From the LONDON GAZETTE.

The Queen's Palace, St. James's Park, Sept. 29, 1766.

THIS Morning, between eight and nine o'clock, the Queen was happily delivered of a Princess. Her Royal Highness the Princess Dowager of Wales, his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, and several Lords of his Majesty's most honourable Privy Council, and the Ladies of her Majesty's bedchamber were present.

Her Majesty is, God be praised, as well as can be expected; and the young Princess is in perfect Health.

This great event was immediately made known by the firing of the Tower Guns; and in the evening there were bonfires, illuminations, and other demonstrations of joy, in London and Westminster.

ST. JAMES'S, October 8.

This day the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, (Sir Robert Ladbroke, Kt. Locum Tenens) Aldermen and Commons of the city of London, in Common Council assembled, waited on his Majesty; and being introduced to his Majesty, by the Right Honourable the Earl of Oxford, James Eyre, Esq; the Recorder, made their Compliments in a most loyal and affectionate address.

To which address his Majesty was pleased to return this most gracious answer:

"Your loyal and affectionate professions upon the happy events of my Queen's safe delivery, and the marriage of my sister to my very good ally the King of Denmark, cannot but be most acceptable to me.

"It is with pleasure that I see the just sense which the city of London entertains of those measures, which the necessity of the occasion obliged me to take for the relief of my people; and I hope they will have the desired effect of quieting mens minds, and removing the distresses which seemed daily to increase."

St. James's, October 11. The King has been pleased to grant unto Francis Earl of Hertford the Office of Master of his Majesty's Horse, in the room of his Grace John Duke of Rutland.

Whitehall, October 11. The King has been pleased to constitute and appoint the Right Honourable Wills Earl of Hillsborough of the Kingdom of Ireland, Soame Jenyns, Edward Eliot, George Rice, John Roberts, Jeremiah Dyson, William Fitzherbert, and Thomas Robinson, Esquires, to be his Majesty's Commissioners for Trade and Plantation.

LONDON, September 30.

Extract of a Letter from Lord Clive to a Friend in England.

"I regard my own honour and the welfare of the Company beyond my life; I have abandoned my family, and nearly ruined my constitution, for the cause already: It now depends on the Directors to determine whether they or their servants are to be masters, and whether the revenue of these provinces shall go into the pockets of their servants or the proprietors. For my part, I am and will be the servant of the Company, not of Individuals.

Your affectionate Friend and Servant,

Calcutta, Jan. 27, 1766. CLIVE."

This question, though not in the exact words of his Lordship's letter, yet the same in effect, is to be agitated on Thursday next.

It is said that the Court of Aldermen will lower the price of bread to-morrow, in consequence of the fall in the price of corn in Mark-Lane and Bear Key.

On Saturday morning early expresses were dispatched to all the seaport towns in this kingdom, with an order for laying an embargo on all the ships laden with corn for exportation.

His Majesty has been pleased to appoint Thomas Robinson, Esq; to be one of the Lords Commissioners of Trade, in the room of Lord Viscount Palmerston, who is appointed one of the Admiralty.

Yesterday the Earl of Hertford appeared at Court, for the first time, as Master of Horse to his Majesty; his servants were all dressed in new rich liveries.

On Saturday last the Right Hon. Robert Nugent, Esq; Member for the city of Bristol, set out for that place, and has offered a bounty of 40l. to the first ship that brings wheat into that port; 30l. to the second, 20l. to the third, and so on in proportion to every ship, till the poor about that city are provided with bread.

In a short time the right hon. Lord Mount Stewart, eldest son to the Earl of Bute, and Member of Parliament for Bossiney, will be married to the eldest daughter and coheiress of the late Lord Windsor, with a fortune of 30000l. per ann. Several fine carriages are already made for them, on which are painted his Lordship's and the Lady's arms.

The Princess born yesterday is, by birth, Princess Royal of England. It is remarkable there has not been a Princess Royal born while her father was King of England, since the reign of King Charles I. whose eldest Daughter, Princess Mary, was mother of our glorious deliverer King William III.

OCTOBER 2. Last night, about nine o'clock, her Royal Highness, the Princess Caroline-Matilda, was married by his Grace, the Archbishop of Canterbury, at the Chapel Royal at St. James's. His Royal Highness the Duke of York stood as proxy for the King of Denmark; and at six this morning her Majesty set out from Carlton-House, on her voyage to that Kingdom. Lady Mary Boothby, with some other persons of quality, attend her Majesty to Harwich, where she is to remain at the house of Griffith Davis, Esq; Collector of the customs, till such time as it may be convenient to embark.

Yesterday there was a grand Levee at St. James's, when his Majesty received the compliments of a great number of the nobility, who came to town on the double happy occasion, of the Queen's delivery of a Princess, and the nuptials of the Princess Caroline-Matilda. After the Levee there was a Privy Council.

They write from Gloucester, that the Earl of Berkeley had been indefatigable in endeavouring to appease the tumults which lately happened in that county, and in administering relief to the poor and to those who had suffered by the rioters; and that tranquility began to take place again.

We are informed that the Right Hon. Richard Rigby, Esq; Member for Tavistock, will be appointed one of the post-masters general, in the room of Lord Grantham.

The Distillers are said to use 50,000 quarters of wheat in a winter; and were just beginning to work, and that wheat of the best sort too; for since the duties have been so high, they buy none but the best corn. Now such a quantity of wheat would feed 80,000 people a year; instead of which, by being made into spirits, it might be the destruction of thousands.

We hear that several of the great mobs that rose in various parts of the country, had a design of visiting this metropolis, where they expected to be joined by prodigious numbers, especially of the Spitalfields weavers, and that they intended to assemble in Moorfields, in order to encourage and spirit them up, to assist them in compelling all dealers in corn and provisions to sell as reasonable here as they had already compelled them to do elsewhere.——How thankful should we therefore be to the government, which, instead of exerting its power to punish such lawless risings, has joined mercy and goodness with sound wisdom and policy, in devising the most salutary means to prevent disorder and confusion, as well as a most dreadful famine throughout the land.

There cannot be a more obvious truth, than that the end of government ought to be the happiness of the people; nor any maxim in politics more rational, than that the legislature should secure plenty of the necessaries of life at home. This obligation arises not only from a principle of humanity and benevolence, but also from motives of sound policy, as low wages enables the farmer and manufacturer to bring their commodities the cheaper to market; for dearness of provisions and high wages, are always connected together.

OCTOBER 6. A patent is preparing for creating his Royal Highness Prince Henry, the King's youngest brother, Duke of Cumberland, which will pass the Seals in a few days.

It is said, the sum of 15,000l. per annum, which the late Duke of Cumberland enjoyed before the rebellion, will be settled by Parliament on the present Duke.

Yesterday the Right Hon. the Earl of Northumberland kissed the King's hand, on being created Duke of Northumberland. It is said his Grace will be appointed Groom of the Stole.

Yesterday morning a messenger arrived at St. James's with the agreeable news that her Majesty the Queen of Denmark arrived at Harwich, in perfect health, at four o'clock on Thursday last.

Extract of a Letter from Urchfont, Wilts, dated Sept. 29.

"My Lord Chatham has ordered his bailiff here to sell wheat to the poor, and those of a middle rank, in the parish, at four shillings and sixpence a bushel, Winchester measure. As his Lordship's estate in his hands is above four hundred pounds a year, and runs chiefly on corn, his charity will be more extensive, and claim the greater merit. It is hoped this example will encourage charity among the great."

OCTOBER 7. According to private advices from Hamburgh, a report was current, that his Prussian Majesty was actually making dispositions for bringing a powerful army into the field next Spring; but the secret object of these preparations was variously talked of.

The court of France has renewed the bounty of nine livres per head on all Negro slaves imported from Africa to their West-India settlements, with an additional bounty of three livres, on being exported to the Havanna, and the Spanish Colonies.

They write from Newfoundland, that Admiral Pallisser had, since his arrival, gone on shore several times to visit the Indians on the coast of Labrador, particularly the Esquimaux tribe; and had ordered the draughts of two excellent harbours to be taken, proper for building new towns. They were highly pleased with the presents sent them from England.

They write from Gibraltar, that Commodore Spry had received orders to insist from the Emperor of Morocco, and the other Barbary States, that the practice should be discontinued of obliging the Captains of British ships to send their passes on board Corsairs, in the Mediterranean.

A Russian man of war, named the Grand Duke, built by British Ship-Carpenters, after the model of an English third rate, was lately launched at Peterburgh, said to be the finest ship in her Imperial Majesty's navy.

Sunday morning early one of the most dreadful storms of rain, thunder and lightning, happened that ever was known in the memory of man, and the damage done thereby is incredible. Many chimnies were thrown down in the high grounds at the west end of the town, where the storm was very violent. John Hill, a Watchman of High Holborn, declares, that about two o'clock a ball of fire fell near his stand, that the earth trembled under him, and that there was so great a smell of sulphur, that he was near being suffocated.

It is said that the Earl of Buckinghamshire will be appointed Ambassador to the Court of Spain; and that an express was sent to his Lordship at his seat in Norfolk on Saturday, requiring his attendance in town.

It is said the Right Hon. the Earl of Bristol will in a few days be created a Marquis.

We hear the Right Hon. Lord Viscount Townshend will also be created a Marquis.

It is said Lord Warkworth, eldest son to the Duke of Northumberland, will assume the title of Earl Percy.

It is said the Right Hon. James Steuart Mackenzie, brother to Lord Bute, will be created an English Baron.

The petty Officers on board Admiral Cornish's squadron at taking the Manilla, it is said, will share six hundred Dollars per man when the ransom is paid.——The other Pot Jack, PITT's at the Helm.

OCTOBER 13. By an express arrived yesterday from our Ambassador at Paris, Prince Ferdinand has refused every thing the French had offered him, viz. the same as Marshal Saxe had, Generalissimo of the army, and Prince of the blood.

Wednesday the patents passed the great seal for the creation of his Royal Highness Prince Henry Duke of Cumberland, and the Earl of Northumberland Duke of the said county; and the same day they both kissed his Majesty's hand, on their creation.

The first Duke of Northumberland was John Dudley, so created 5 Edward VI. who was beheaded in 1553 (two years afterwards) for proclaiming his Daughter-in-Law, Lady Jane Grey, Queen; "with whom, (says Heylin) died also the proud title of Duke of Northumberland, never aspired to by the Percies, though men of eminent nobility." The last who bore this title was George Fitzroy, a natural Son of King Charles II. who died without issue in 1726. The Percies were only Earls.

Little credit is given to the report in some of the papers, of a certain Scotch Earl's having been offered an English Dukedom, &c. as he would not thereby be entitled to a seat in the House of Lords, any more than the Dukes of Brandon and Dover, so created by Queen Anne. His Son, however, (after the Countess's death) will inherit an English Barony, and his daughter will (now) be an English Dutchess.

A Northern young Potentate, when on the eve of marriage with an amiable princess, wrote a letter with his own hand to his intended Royal bride, in which, amongst other gallant expressions, we have it strongly affirmed to us, is the following: "With a Crown you gain too a Heart, not, I trust, unworthy your possessing; and though you lose a Parent and a Brother, you may be assured of meeting with all the tenderness of both, and something yet beyond it, in the warm affection of a Husband."

N. B. It is above nine months since the deceased, Francis Stuart, advertised his having declined business, in Beaufort; and his desire of closing his affairs there: At the same time, requesting those indebted to him, to settle their accounts with him. Such as paid no regard to that advertisement, need not be surprised, if they find themselves under the necessity of settling with an attorney at law, should they prove equally regardless of this, as it would be unreasonable for them to expect the same indulgence from administrators, that they possibly might have had from the deceased, when alive.
